National President's Message

Are you affectionately desirous of your members? (1 Thessalonians 2: 8)

The Apostle Paul says in 1 Thessalonians 2:8 "So, being affectionately desirous of you, we were ready to share with you not only the gospel of God but also our own selves, because you had become very dear to us."

To be an affectionate leader like Paul, you need to lead with genuine love, care, and concern for those you are responsible for. A common phrase rightly said. "People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care."

Bro. Peter Desmond Wee

People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care.

Here are some keyways to emulate Paul's affectionate leadership:

1. Show Genuine Care and Love:

·Paul expresses a deep affection for the Thessalonians, demonstrating that true leadership is rooted in love. Be genuinely interested in the well-being of those you lead, showing care beyond just professional or formal interactions.

2. Be Willing to Invest Personally:

·Paul was willing to share not only the gospel but also his own life. This means being open, authentic, and willing to share personal experiences, struggles, and successes with others. Show vulnerability when appropriate to build trust and deeper connections.

3. Build Strong Relationships:

·Develop deep, personal relationships with those you lead. Paul did not see the Thessalonians merely as followers or recipients of his teaching; he saw them as dear friends. Take the time to get to know people individually, understanding their backgrounds, strengths, and needs.

4. Encourage and Build Up Others:

·Paul often encouraged the Thessalonians and built them up in their faith. Similarly, be a source of encouragement, focusing on building others up rather than tearing them down. Recognize achievements and provide constructive feedback that inspires growth.

3. Build Strong Relationships:

·Develop deep, personal relationships with those you lead. Paul did not see the Thessalonians merely as followers or recipients of his teaching; he saw them as dear friends. Take the time to get to know people individually, understanding their backgrounds, strengths, and needs.

By embodying these qualities, you can lead with the same kind of affection and sincerity that Paul demonstrated to the Thessalonians. That's the same spirit you need to nurture in FGBMFI leadership that fosters trust, loyalty, and a positive environment where individuals feel valued and cared for.

We have 82 chapters, and the vision is to double that, which means another 82 leaders in our midst. The scope is tremendous. But we need caring people. People who look at the interests of members rather than their own. We need a set of younger people. We have 50% of our membership above the age of 60. We must also learn to mentor and pass the baton (to our younger members) and that too affectionately. Can we do that?
